

Deana Jackson is a visionary and an accomplished leader who has dedicated her life to empowering people and improving their financial well-being. As the founder of 300 Financial Group, Deana has become a distinguished expert in retirement and life planning, leveraging her background as a Registered Nurse specializing in liver transplant at UCLA Medical Center.

Deana's personal financial challenges served as a catalyst for her transformative journey towards empowerment, fueling her mission to help others achieve financial independence. Her remarkable dedication and expertise led her to achieve the remarkable feat of being the #1 Sales Advisor in personal production for 10 consecutive years.

Driven by a relentless quest for knowledge, Deana sought mentorship and acquired invaluable insights, leading her to make a successful transition into the financial industry. In 2019, she founded 300 Financial Group, motivated by a sense of responsibility and the lessons learned from the economic instability of 2008. Deana's primary commitment lies in offering clients guaranteed security, wealth transfer, and upside potential for growth without the inherent risks associated with the stock market. With 15 years of experience in sales and leadership at her practice company, Deana brings a wealth of expertise to her clients.

Recognizing the immense impact she could have on changing the economic landscape, Deana decided to develop and lead entrepreneurs in the financial services industry. As an accomplished retirement specialist, her dedication revolves around cultivating leaders in the financial industry, enabling Deana to expand her impact and provide support to a broader range of individuals and families. By offering them the tools, guidance and empowerment they need to attain financial success and security, Deana Jackson is helping them achieve the lives they've always dreamed of.
